The Nation Needs Every One's Assistance Now.

We Americans must realize the serious conditions that exist, and the importance that attaches to every one doing "their bit" for the government and the cause of humanity right now. Our allies have fought the good fight, and it is our turn to do the same. Russia is virtually out of it, as also will be Italy at least for some time, France is exhausted and will do well to hold her own lines, so that the real struggle devolves on Great Britain and the United States. There is no cause of fear, we can, must, and will win, but every one must realize the seriousness of the position and help. There are none so poor but that they may help if not in service at the front, or even in dollars, at least in loyalty and devotion. Our government has been exceedingly lenient with agitators, speakers and writers who have assailed the cause, and is beginning to tighten the lines. Let every traitor be prosecuted, close the mouths, and still the pens of these dangerous ones who have, and are advocating disloyalty, and it is the duty of every one to report flagrant cases that they may be prosecuted. Let every soldier know we are back of them and admire their courage and loyalty, and let the black sheep know we are against them in every move.

Aldermen Rea and Pegram will retire from the city council next spring, Alderman Rea because he does not want the office again, and Alderman Pegram because no one would care to have him repeat his record of innocuous desuetude. We need live aldermen in this part of the city.

The plans of finishing St. Bernard's church having been changed so that the marble for several years lying on the street about the church cannot be used, it is being removed. Meantime the interior of the church is being handsomely decorated and the church and school property greatly improved.

Englewood as a School Center.

Back in the days when Englewood was "The Junction" and long before we consented to annex Chicago to us, we were distinguished as a school center, and the ten acres between 68th, 67th, Yale Ave and Normal Ave. were donated to Cook county for a normal school ground and the then largest normal school in the western country was built on the present site of the Chicago Normal and Training school. It is a long cry since then, and our half a hundred large and very modern public schools as well as half that number of parochial schools, besides numerous business colleges, speak well for Englewood as a school center. High schools include the Englewood, the Parker Practice high, and the Calumet. The beautiful Lindblom now in course of erection gives us a modern high school in every section. The grammar schools are all large and being enlarged, and fairly bulge out with happy pupils and in these are our strength. Besides these we have several academies and musical colleges, so that education in any form is at the very door of all Englewood, and no part of the city, or any city may boast of greater advantages in this line. Chicago university, with all of its advantages, is within walking distance, and the additional new medical and legal departments soon to be constructed at the "U" will put us in close connection with advanced education in all professions. Yes, we are proud of Englewood's educational facilities.

We appreciate very much the very nice things said about us by the speaker at the Sunday Evening club last Sunday. It is such things as that that make it much pleasanter for the humble scribe to meet the many "bumps" allotted to him in the course of his career. Thank you.

James Cowen spent Sunday with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Cowen, and left Monday for "somewhere on the coast," to take up his duties as second-class machinist on the U. S. submarine chaser "142." Jim had an attack of pneumonia before he left, but was feeling much better when he started.

Mrs. W. J. Abernathy, a resident of Englewood for many years, passed away rather suddenly on Friday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Milton Lamoreaux, 6613 Harvard Ave. Two hours before her death she had registered to knit for the boys. Funeral occurred at the Englewood Baptist church on Sunday and burial took place at Mount Hope.

After 19 years of successful business in Englewood, Charles Rice has sold his drug store at 63d St. and Stewart Ave. to J. M. Hart, an experienced and well-known druggist of the city. Grandpa Rice and grandma will leave this week via their new limousine car for Louisville, Ky., the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Nugent, formerly Miss Edith Rice, where they will make their home hereafter. Mr. Hart is an enterprising, energetic gentleman, whose success in Englewood is assured, and he is welcomed to our city.

The cathedral stained glass windows have been placed in the chapel of Cunningham's new building at Normal Blvd. and Englewood Ave. this week, and the fancy scrool hand forged iron guards and ornamental work placed on the doors and windows. Every little detail is being faithfully observed to make this the finest private chapel in the land, and as the completion draws nearer the number and amount of these details would surprise an amateur. Several tenants have examined the new store and office rooms in the building, and one of the finest locations in the town awaits the lucky ones who lease these rooms.

War Relief Organizations Should Get Together.

We receive articles every week from half a hundred different organizations, all with the same object in view, the comfort and relief of the soldier boys. There is a great overlapping of usefulness, and more and better work would be accomplished if these organizations were consolidated and placed under one management. We received a full column article last week from a high-sounding organization which investigation showed had just six members; another who bid for public support with particular stress on publicity for the officers, was composed of a dozen people in one block. This is a waste of energy and time, and while we are conserving everything else, let us not forget energy. All of these organizations have a worthy object, and the ladies are sincere, but they might do much better if they got together under one head and the responses from the public would be larger if solicited by one organization than by half a hundred, which becomes almost a nuisance to business men and others. We are willing to give all of our space for the good of the cause, but a hundred page magazine couldn't make room for all of these organizations, no matter how praiseworthy their object may be. Get together.

Englewood People All Doing Their Bit in Patriotic Work.

We certainly are proud of Englewood men and women for their earnest work on behalf of the Liberty Bond sale, Red Cross work, Y. M. C. A. and Knights of Columbus work for the boys in the camps, in fact for every feature that has been introduced the Englewood people have taken hold enthusiastically and made a campaign. Secretary Elmer Tyner of the Commercial and Civic association has directed a great deal of the central Englewood work and his office has been headquarters to everthing from recruiting, to caring for the kiddies of France. We can mention no names as everyone has done their share, men and women, professional and businessmen, working men from artisans to laborers, and Englewood may well be proud of the showing made in every movement for the good of the cause.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OF ENGLEWOOD.
64th St. and Yale Ave.
Pastor, Rev. Willard H. Robinson, D. D.
6530 Lafayette Ave.

At Englewood Presbyterian church: In the morning at 10:30 Doctor Robinson will speak on "Christ, the Trouble-Maker." "Think not that I am come to send peace on earth," said Jesus. "I am come to send a sword." The sayings of Jesus are not an anthology. They are not a collection of unrelated bits of wit and wisdom. They are not, like Palgrave's "Golden Treasury," a fine set of fine selections, and from the finest poets, but often utterly at variance with each other. They are the life-words of one whose career was a perfect unity. They are in absolute harmony with one another. How, then, can the author of the great invitations to peace and rest say that he is the bringer of discord and war? How can he who said, "Blessed are the peacemakers," also say in substance, "I am a trouble-maker, a war-maker, a man of discord and blood?" The answer, of course, is that we must distinguish between fundamental purpose and temporary effect, between final outcome and earlier stages, between the unavoidable collision and the purpose to keep safe and sound. So we begin to see that he who said, "Blessed are the peacemakers," he who was the Great Pacifist, might also, without wishing to play the role, and in spite of his gentleness, be the Great Disturber. Other men, fearing their teachings might make trouble, have hedged and been mealy-mouthed. It is characteristic of Jesus that he flatly said, "I came to send a sword."

TRIANGLE THEATRE

The management of the Triangle theatre, 7219 Wentworth Ave., hereby extends a courteous invitation to each and every patron of the Nu-Sho to hereafter attend the Triangle, where (by closing the Nu-Sho) we can afford to give much better pictures than have ever been shown in the neighborhood. Our operating room is remodeled and we now have one of the best operators Chicago affords. Everything will be done that is possible for the comfort and entertainment of our patrons. Our policy (5 and 10c) will remain as it has been; 10 and 15c only when big, expensive features are shown. A cordial welcome awaits you.—F. C. Parr, owner; L. L. Johnson, Manager.

Friday, Nov. 16—Maxine Elliott in a seven-act Goldwyn, "Fighting Odds." The third of the Goldwyn releases, starring the beautiful Maxine Elliott. This story was written by two of America's best-known writers, Rol Cooper Megrue and Irvin S. Cobb, both of whom have contributed much to the American stage and reading public. This is Miss Elliott's debut in the motion-picture world, and the role gives her a chance to display her dramatic ability to the utmost. Same day, "Musty Suffer" comedy, "Truly Rural." Adults 15c, children 10c.

Saturday, Nov. 17—Baby Marie Osborne in her latest play, "When Baby Forgot." This time she starts off by being a regular "tomboy," but when her father and mother separate, she frets herself sick because she cannot remember the prayer her mother taught her. She begs everyone to just "start her," and, of course, before the story ends—but, really, we haven't the heart to spoil your enjoyment in seeing this entertaining play. And a Paramount Bray pictograph. Note—fourth episode of Helen Holmes in "The Lost Express"—at the matinee only.

Sunday, Nov. 18—Continuous big show. Geraldine Farrar in "Maria Rosa." Miss Farrar never appeared to better advantage than in this romantic and touching drama—her work is simply superb. Also a big Keystone comedy, "The Betrayal of Maggie," featuring Charles Murray, Chester Conklin and Louise Fazenda. And a Burton Holmes Travelogue.

HARVARD PHOTO PLAY HOUSE

Friday, November 16—Matinee and night. First time on the South side. The irresistible Billie Burke, assisted by Thomas Meighan in the big stage success, "Arms and the Girl." American pluck and wit triumphs. There's love, laughs, adventure and intrigue a-plenty in this thrilling story of life "over there." "Arms and the Girl" was a big success on the stage. It's a bigger success on the screen. Also the film of the hour, "The Man Who Leads the National Army," indorsed by President Wilson and high officials. Entire receipts of this film goes to National Association of Training Camps.

Saturday, November 17—Matinee and night: double feature. Alice Brady in the new play, "The Maid of Belgium." A gripping, surprising, thrilling production. A picture whose climax cannot be predicted by anyone. A most unusual, exceptionally entertaining attraction. Also the king of comedians, Charlie Chaplin, in his funniest comedy, "A Jitney Elopement." A riot of fun in two parts. Also matinee only, Mollie King in the Pathe wonderful serial, "The Seven Pearls."

Sunday, November 18—Continuous 2 to 11 p. m.; special one day only. America's great emotional actress, Jane Cowl, in "The Spreading Dawn." The romance of a generation in seven big parts. She sought to defeat the thing called love. Picture Jane Cowl in such a role—beautiful, appealing, powerful; a woman of charm and emotion. This is the keenest, biggest and most compelling drama that has thus far been pictured. Also a scream two-part Keystone comedy. Remember, every Sunday matinee only, "The Fighting Trail."

Monday, November 19—Matinee and night; one day only. There is another dramatic treat in store for you. We are now presenting the latest Paramount play in which that noted Japanese actor, Sessue Hayakawa, is starred, "The Call of the East," is one of the best pictures he has ever done, and you know what that means. It will thrill you, entertain you and keep you interested from first to last. See this play of Oriental mystery, romance and vindication. Also latest Pictorial News and a good comedy.

Tuesday, November 20—Matinee and night; special benefit performance. Given for the benefit of Troop 610, Boy Scouts of America. Metro pictures presents exquisite Emmy Wehlen in a wonderplay of love and intrigue, "The Outsider." A screen version of the well-known novel, "Nobody," by Louis Joseph Vance. She was a shop girl. She longs to be a society lady. A strange happening brought her the opportunity that she had been looking for. When she became a member of the so-called "Four Hundred" she didn't think so much of them as she had before. See this superb drama of poverty and riches. Also first-run Pathe Weekly—all the latest events, Burton Holmes' Travelogue, and a Christie comedy.

Wednesday, November 21—Matinee and night. Chicago's big favorite, Bryant Washburn, assisted by Virginia Valli, in his latest success, "The Fibbers," a comedy-drama in five parts. Did you ever tell just a teeny-weeny white fib to your husband or your wife? Did you get away with it? This man and his wife both did. It leads to an entanglement that is full of comedy and nearly a tragedy. It might be your own life on the screen. You'll like this play. Also Victor Moore in a new comedy and Screen Magazine.

Thursday and Friday, November 22 and 23—Matinee and night; first showing in this vicinity; special, two days; attraction extraordinary. William Farnum in the most realistic and beautiful picturization ever shown, "The Conqueror." Remember the Maine. A gripping American drama picturing the career of Gen. Sam Houston in eight big parts; 300 wonderful scenes and a cast of 1,500. A truly wonderful play with love, interest, punch, action, suspense, humor, atmosphere and pathos; a photoplay that will go down in the annals of filmdom. You must see it. Bring the children. Come early. No advance in prices.

At the "Harvard Beautiful" Monday, November 19th.

EMPRESS THEATRE

"How do they do it at the price?" is the constant query of Empress theatre patrons. Every week and twice every week the entire bill is changed, and it is difficult to chose between them as to which is the best bill. Manager Harry Mitchell is up in his business, and as soon as a real headliner is discovered Harry goes gunning for it, and it is very seldom indeed that he does not get it. See the bill this week, and you will know what we mean when we say what a good show it is.

Mr. Mitchell's long acquaintance with the big men on all circuits enables him to catch them going and coming, East or West, and many open dates are booked for the Empress that the dollar houses would be glad to book. Hereafter the old policy of matinees daily will rule, and the old price of ten cents, a Dim dime, for admission is what none of the other managers can fathom and ask: "How does he manage it?" Well, that is what the proprietors pay for, his management, and he does put it over every week.

The Empress has been renovated and prettily decorated, every corner and cranny swept and cleaned, garnished with new paint and gilding so that it shines as bright as a soldier's medal. Don't make a mistake when you want an hour or two of real amusement. Hit the trail for the Empress and keep abreast of the times in all the best stage stuff. None of the old-time, small-town acts get on the stage here. The act must be good and new and unquestionable in every way. It is never a cheap show, only cheap prices.

The great beauty of the Empress is the wonderful ventilating system by which it may be easily cooled and heated always with pure fresh air, the same system, in fact, as is used in the best hospitals. Remember the Empress when you are booking your best girl for an engagement. It is sure to please her as well as yourself.

Friendship.

Friendship, like gold, needs the acid test of adversity to determine its purity.—Everitt McNeil.

E. A. R. THEATRE

Friday and Saturday, Nov. 16 and 17—Matinee Saturday. Marguerite Clark in "Bab's Diary," five parts. Dainty Marguerite Clark has been a particularly happy choice for the capricious and wholly delightful "Bab," and everyone who hasn't already fallen head over heels in love with her will tumble most willingly when they see her in these charming stories. As the irrepressible girl filled with the joy of living and loving, Bab gets herself into all sorts of funny situations by pretending to have a lover, and when the imaginary sweetheart actually appears on the scene of action her consternation gives her an involuntary bath when she tumbles into a tub in her efforts to escape. You'll love every moment of the fascinating tale. Also other attractions.

Sunday, Nov. 18—2 to 11 p. m.—"A Stormy Night," five parts. It was not only one "stormy night," but a number of stormy nights and days for Jack Winston, as he followed Mary Weller through a series of wild adventures in his attempts to save the girl from recurring dangers. And finally, after he has made her stand still long enough to get married, he discovered that his courage was merely being tested in order that the girl might satisfy herself that he was a "real man." A mystery comedy this, with enough thrills and chills to keep you guessing and shivery. "Skidding Hearts," two-part Keystone comedy, also Burton Holmes Travelogue. Added attraction, matinee only. Pearl White in "The Fatal Ring."

Monday, Nov. 19—7 to 11 p. m. Vivian Martin in "Little Miss Optimist," five parts. As a little "newsie" with a big heart and a faculty for getting into all sorts of trouble, Vivian Martin is in her element. But even the "cop" on the beat is a friend of the little ray of sunshine who shouts "wuxtry" up and down the streets of the big city. Playing opposite Miss Martin is the always popular Tom Moore. "Music Hath Charms." Drew comedy. Pathe Latest News. Also Christie comedy.

Tuesday, Nov. 20—Douglas Fairbanks in "His Picture in the Paper," five parts. The theme is typical of the true Fairbanks nature, and in addition to its mirth-provoking qualities carries with it the well-known optimism and philosophy of the famous screen star, proving in all one of the greatest screen tonics ever presented. Also a screaming two-part comedy.

Wednesday, Nov. 21—7 to 11 p. m. Marguerite Clark in "Still Waters," six parts. A rare combination of pastoral romance, rural comedy and thrilling drama, written especially for Miss Clark by Edith Barnard Delano, the well-known novelist. In it the diminutive star has one of the greatest opportunities of her screen career for the display of her remarkable versatility. "A Bedroom Blunder," a rip-roaring comedy in two parts.

Thursday, Nov. 22—7 to 11 p. m. Helen Ware in "The Garden of Allah," ten parts. Who has not read Robert Hichens' celebrated book, or who has not seen the stage production of that same book? To those who have never had the pleasure we would say—"Go to see the picture." And to those who have, we still say—"Go to see the picture." Helen Ware as the heroine is most convincing.

Friday and Saturday, Nov. 23 and 24—Geraldine Farrar in "The Woman God Forgot."

At "The More-Popular-Than-Ever" "E. A. R." Theatre, Friday and Saturday, November 16 and 17. Matinee and Night.

NATIONAL THEATRE

"A Good-for-Nothing Husband" at the National Next Week.

That the public will always pay their money to see what is best is demonstrated by the splendid business done by Robert Sherman's successful comedy, "A Good-for-Nothing Husband," which comes to the National week of November 18.

"A Good-for-Nothing Husband" is a comedy drama, not too serious, but with enough heart interest in it to hold the attention of the audience in several stirring situations, and in the next second turn the tears into the merriest kind of laughter.

The charming little lady who plays the leading part in the production has been especially selected by Mr. Sherman for the role of the wife of her good-for-nothing mate. She is an accomplished actress who has forced her way into recognition by her rare dramatic talent and conscientious attention to the severe requirements of her profession.

When asked the other day by a young lady anxious to go on the stage as to the best procedure to obtain a theatrical engagement she said, "I would not advise any young girl to go on the stage, but if she does and is fortunate enough to obtain an engagement with a reputable company, the only road to success is work, hard conscientious work. Great actresses are not made in a week or a year, but it takes time, application, and above all fitness for the work and love for the art."

"A Good-for-Nothing Husband," which comes to the theatre, is one of the most successful plays of this season and the producer has given it a splendid acting company and a scenic production consistent with the requirements of the play.

MARLOWE HIPPODROME

"Doc" White is doing things at the Marlowe Hippodrome and a glance over the program of this week will convince one that he has struck the vein of amusement that Englewood people like. The excellent houses at the Marlowe each night is a tribute alike to the excellent talent engaged and to the versatile "Doc's" ability in picking them. We have all seen "movies" that reminded one of a funeral, and others alleged to be funny that were simply agonizing in their primitiveness and gaucherie. This is the kind you won't see at the Marlowe and the vaudeville acts are always the newest and best. With a big string of the best houses the management can afford to book attractions that smaller houses that play a lone hand, can't afford to put on. It is the policy of this popular house to learn of all the newest on the vaudeville stage and then book it. The price is always an after consideration and the result is they really have what they advertise—"first-class vaudeville"—at every performance.

A feature of the Marlowe is the cleanliness of the program, no questionable acts are allowed, no profanity or smut is allowed to go over the lights and women and children are as carefully considered as in their own homes or churches. Amusement, clean and fresh, is their specialty and the best humor does not need smut to make it good.

The patrons of the Marlowe appreciate the efforts of Mr. White and are showing it by their patronage, and an empty seat is as big a curiosity as a white black-bird, while the big play house will comfortably seat more people than any house in this part of the city. Moral: Become a Marlowe patron, try it once and you will be sure to become a regular.

Here is a little "look in" to what is on the bill for next week:

Monday—Chas. Chaplin in one of his joy producers and vaudeville.

Tuesday—The big joy nite. Song Publishers' Revue and local contest. Also loving cup contest and vaudeville.

Wednesday and Thursday—Loop vaudeville—special selected program.

Friday—Ten all-star acts; six loop acts and four professional revue acts.

Saturday and Sunday—Biggest and best vaudeville show on South side. Popular prices. Matinee Sunday 2 p. m.

Local and Personal News of Auburn Park, Gresham Brainerd and the South

Mrs. G. S. Bollman, formerly of 8558 Green St., has moved to Englewood, 6723 Emerald Ave.

Remember, it is 3 instead of 2 cents postage now, excepting city letters, and 2 cents for postal cards.

Marion Fessinger of 7801 Sangamon St. is recovering from an attack of tonsolitis.

Mr. Chester Ward, 7944 Emerald Ave., has been home sick with the grippe. We wonder whether Chester will improve his spare time in knitting.

Miss Marion Phillips, a former Gresham lady, was married October 20 to Mr. Schorle von Hoiz at Long Lake, Ind. They will reside at Laporte in the future.

The Rock Island are putting in a very fine system of cement walks around their elevated tracks in Gresham that will add greatly to the convenience of our people.

Vicious dogs have had several victims lately. William Schrader of 8030 Halsted St. was bitten by M. Blom's dog last week. Dogs must be muzzled all the year now.

Chicago's oldest knitter is Mrs. John Phillips. She resides in Auburn Park and is ninety-five years old. Her greatest pleasure she says is knitting sweaters for the soldier boys. She resides at 7814 Lowe Ave.

The Woman's Guild of the Church of the Annunciation announces the annual bazaar and baked ham supper, which will be held in the basement of the church, 7814 Lowe Ave., on the afternoon and evening of Thursday, November 22. Supper will be served from six o'clock until eight.

It was rumored this week that an effort was being made to have the depositors of the old Auburn State bank take over the former Bransfield institution, and with the $400,000 of assets now on hand, and more to be supplied, to continue the business. It is proposed to form a committee of trustees composed of Messrs. Thomas McNally, Theodore Affeldt and Herman Krueger to conduct affairs.

The districts south of 79th St. are making another fight to secure more cars and better service. The wonderful growth of this splendid residence district demands better service and the street car company should grant it. Rightly considered it should be one of the aldermanic issues of the campaign next spring and possibly more attention will be paid to the matter.

Thousands Attend Opening of Mutual National Bank.

The handsome banking quarters of the Mutual National bank, 7829-31 Halsted St., was thronged with people, ladies, men and even children, last evening, to celebrate the formal opening of the First National bank in Auburn Park. The handsome furnishings, the glittering marble and glass-topped desks, the gilded private offices of the officials, the substantial "cages" for the working force, all bespeak the preparedness for the large business this worthy institution is sure to merit and receive. The arrangements are perfect and every convenience for modern banking and the accommodation of customers is provided. The president's and cashier's desks are inclosed on the south side of the room; and in the rear behind the substantial steel railings is the vault and directors' room. The burglarproof safe stands in full view before the entrance to the working room of the bank, while the bank floor is provided with convenient and very handsome desks with all conveniences for customers.

Every visitor was presented with roses and every one of them joins with the Times in wishing the new institution prosperity and success. The officers and directors are: Louis Rathje, president; H. G. Lauerman, vice president; Andrew W. Harper, vice president; Fred H. Korthauer, cashier; directors, Louis Rathje, S. S. McDonald, Andrew W. Harper, H. F. Lauerman, A. C. Kussman, Olof Olson, Dr. John G. Craig, H. F. Fischer, S. Inlander, Louis Pasal and Frank C. Rathje.

Margaret Prindeville of 7924 Green St. has returned from a visit with friends at Mendota, Ill.

On account of an unusual rush of local news matter, this week our serial story will be omitted.

Mrs. John Augustine of 7736 Peoria St. has been the guest of her mother at Coal City, Ill.

There is general relief that the government has at last set a price on coal and the consumer will know "just where he is at" now.

Otto Miller, the Park real estate man, is making a visit to New Orleans this month on business and pleasure bent.

This Indian summer weather has been greatly enjoyed by many in strolls in the woods and fields to the south and west of us. It would be glorious if it lasted another month.

OUR KNITTERS' PRAYER.

As we for soldiers knit
Striving to do our bit
To keep them warm,
Filled with resistless might
They'll put all foes to flight
And ne'er find harm.
—Hamilton Parker.

MEN'S GYMNASIUM.

Basketball—The 85-pound team was defeated by Davis Square in the opening game of the season on Wednesday.

The-Each-for-All circle of the Englewood Baptist church will meet today with Mrs. W. H. Hancock of 1302 64th St., Mrs. E. G. McDougal assisting hostess. A light luncheon will be served at one o'clock.

Please remember to sign the local news you send us, and get it to us by Wednesday if possible.

Mrs. Catherine F. Busse died at her home, 938 71st St. last Friday and her funeral occurred Sunday afternoon under the auspices of Germania chapter, Eastern Star. Interment was at Graceland cemetery.

On account of an unusual rush of local news matter this week our serial story will be omitted.

Mrs. Julia, wife of James Meyer, died at her home last week and was buried Frieday from St. Basil's church. Interment was at Mt. Olivet. Mrs. Meyer lived at 5542 Hermitage Ave. and was a highly respected Christian lady.

Money to loan any amount, on diamonds, watches, jewelry, at low rates. Strictly confidential. Sandacks, 6217 Halsted St.—(Adv.)

The open weather has been very favorable to work on the Lindblom school and if it holds out the entire building may be enclosed this winter. This would greatly hasten the work and give work to many mechanics during the cold weather.

Maurice McGrath, who died Saturday at his home, 6944 Green St., was buried Monday from St. Bernard's church, interment being at Mt. Olivet.

Thanksgiving day falls on the 29th of November this year.

Sand in vast quantities is being hauled for the elevation of the railroad tracks at 55th St. It is hoped this work will be completed next summer and open up the territory to the south of the boulevard.

In the ads of the Stuckey Prescription drug store will be found an interesting series of advices of "The Everwells." Read them and heed the pointers.

The B. & O. and Pan Handle should both be required to build a better depot at Garfield Blvd. and this station be put on the map for the accommodation of the large number of people in this district who need better transportation facilities.

We would like very much to secure a lady correspondent for the west of Halsted district that can devote a few hours of each week to gathering the neighborhood news.

The splendid productive gardens raised by people in the west of Halsted St. district has not only been a great saving to the lot owners, but also have effected prices in the general city market, as the demand was less from those who had raised their own produce.

You can buy anything you want for Thanksgiving celebrations or parties, very novel and nobby favors, decorations and tissue work at Kellner's, 443 W. 63d St.. Just east of the postal station. (adv.)

August Muellor's bakery at 7058 Halsted St. was tackled by two armed robbers Saturday, but the clerk, Dolly Gros, screamed loud enough to attract the attention of people on the street and the robbers retreated to an automobile, where two friends were awaiting them and they drove away before the police arrived. It is said the car license was No. 11549.

The boulevarding of Loomis St. has been of great value to the streets between Garfield Blvd. and 59th St. This homey residence property will now be seen by thousands who would not be attracted there when the driving was poor.

A United States marine recruiting station will be opened at 63d and Halsted Sts. this week to secure some select men for this special service. Lieutenant Keisell was out today looking up a location.

John H. Rombach of 6836 Claremont Ave., better known as John Spink the letter carrier, has secured a transfer to Jacksonville, Fla., and will move there with his family tomorrow night. John is an old Englewood boy, highly respected and a high-class carrier. He takes with him the best wishes of a host of friends. Ill health in his family is the primary cause for his change of residence.

The main reason the railroads give for not elevating the Pan Handle and Belt Line tracks is that they cannot get labor, and that material is high. Inasmuch as their grade crossings are a continual nuisance to the people and a bar to the advancement of property anywhere near them, it is time to override such objections. The governmental regulation of material prices applies to them and there has been no scarcity of labor in Chicago thus far.

The retiring aldermen in the Thirty-second, Thirty-first and Thirtieth wards next spring will be Alderman Rea, Alderman Pegram and Alderman O'Toole and Alderman Byrne in the Twenty-ninth ward. We understand Rea will not be a candidate for renomination, and it is doubtful if Pegram can secure the nomination much less be elected, as his aldermanic career has been a blank. Both O'Toole and Byrne have many friends and have big Democratic majorities to assist them in being returned to the city council should they choose to go back. We need good, strong men and it is time to begin selecting the best right now.

Additional Ridge News.

VANDERPOEL SCHOOL NOTES.

Vanderpoel school has sent the following articles to the committee on hospital supplies of the Chicago chapter of the Red Cross woman's bureau: Nine boxes of ration heaters, 82 pairs of booties, 31 picture books, 8 bags, 1 box gun wipers, 67 hoods, 18 pillows and 92 refugee garments.

Miss T. Wilcox's room is intensely interested in its missionary offering of 500 garments for the Belgian refugees.

This evening the Vanderpoel Memorial association will celebrate its fifth anniversary in honor of John Vanderpoel's birthday. Charles Francis Browne, the eminent artist, has promised an address which is to be a wonderful treat. The association has received 69 pictures from Mr. Vanderpoel's friends and pupils. All of these have been hung with name plates and the name of the contributor attached. We doubt if there is another school in which such a beautiful spirit of co-operation is shown between residents, teachers and pupils.

ALICE L. BARNARD SCHOOL NOTES.

We forgot to mention Apple day at the Barnard school on November 1. Through Mrs. Sutherland's generosity each child enjoyed a generous helping of Michigan apples.

Miss Kuntz, domestic science teacher, is head of all of the Red Cross work planned by the Junior auxiliary.

Miss Hibbert has asked the co-operation of the mothers of the kindergarten tots in planning and making garments for refugees.

The manual training class are making their own knitting needles and the boys are as busy with their skeins of yarn as the girls are.

Fifth and sixth grade pupils have responded in a very creditable manner in signing the anti-cigarette pledge, and have secured the pennant for their 100 per cent showing. This speaks very well for Miss Bertha Kallum's interest in her room.

Mr. O. T. Bright, district superintendent, visited the school and also inspected the splendid work done by the cadet, Miss Rose Hart.

Truly Industrious.

Ab Adkins says he has an uncle who is so industrious he makes hard work of loafing.—Atchison Globe.

LINDEN PHOTODROME

Today, Friday, Nov. 16—By special request, Dustin Farnum in "The Spy." A sensation! America wants to see this picture expose of German secret police in America. How the kaiser operates and secures information. There are 10,000 foreign enemy secret police lurking and scheming in the United States. Some claim American citizenship. Do you know your neighbor? He may be an enemy to your country! How do you know that you are not harboring a Teuton spy within your own home? See the secrets of German methods exposed in this thrilling drama of diplomacy! Also the Burton Holmes Travel pictures and good comedy.

Saturday, Nov. 17—Dustin Farnum in "The Scarlet Pimpernel." Dumas never wrote a novel which had more swift action, absorbing romance or exciting mystery than this photoplay of the stirring time of the French reign of terror. Also the Animated Weekly and comedy pictures.

Sunday, Nov. 18—William Desmond in "Fighting Back." Can the right woman reform the right man? Can she make a man who has degenerated into a mere shadow of himself and make him anew? Can she revive the old fighting spirit love of self-respect and thoroughness of purpose? This question is answered in this thrilling play, "Fighting Back." Also Keystone comedy. Always good.

Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 19-20—R. A. Walsh's master drama, "The Honor System," in ten reels with Gladys Brockwell, George Walsh and Merian Cooper. The greatest human story ever told. It is a photoplay of today—of now—not of 4,000 years ago, and of the life and time you know and live. The management highly recommended "The Honor System" or "The Melting Pot of Souls" as one of the greatest pictures we have ever shown. Don't miss Monday or Tuesday. Come to the matinee and avoid the evening crowd.

Wednesday, Nov. 21—Madge Evans in "The Adventures of Carol," an unusual story, a brilliant little star, superb support, beauty scenes and surprising glimpses of New York. All those combine to make "The Adventures of Carol" a thoroughly satisfying, wholly pleasing entertainment. Also the Paramount Pictograph and good comedy.

Thursday, Nov. 22—Emmy Wehlen in "The Outsider." A girl's fight for happiness is told in six acts of thrills and romance. Also other great pictures.

To Gas Consumers Still Using Only Flat Flame Lights—
The candle power of all gas in Chicago was reduced on October 1st, as provided by City Ordinance. This has cut down the volume of light from flat flame burners. Therefore, to all gas consumers who are wholly dependent upon flat flame burners for illumination, this company continues to offer—
FREE—
Two Junior Mantle Lights
—burner, mantle and chimney complete, and installed without charge.
One JUNIOR light will deliver really three times as much light as you ever got from a flat flame burner and use less than half as much gas.
Write us immediately—or fill out this coupon and turn it in where you regularly pay your gas bill—and it will receive prompt attention.

ENGLEWOOD THEATRE

It is a speedy show with just the right combination of fun, music and frivolity. At frequent intervals specialties and innovations are introduced which prevent the show lagging at any spot. One of the really great features offered is Lew Talbot's "Lid-Lifters" with Johnnie Weber and Dolly Sweet who on next Sunday invade the Englewood theatre for a week's engagement and, on the presumption that the taste of the burlesque public is everywhere identical, it may be predicted that record-breaking audiences will mark the engagement. Those who saw "The Lid-Lifters" last year will remember that it was a superior show. This season's "Lid-Lifters" is an entirely new show, but it is even better than the last edition and lives up to Mr. Talbot's motto, "Always do a little better than you did the first time." Johnnie Weber has long been identified with Columbia Circuit burlesque. For 14 years he was a star of Rose Sydell company. Many thousands have laughed themselves almost sick over his ludicrous "papa" scene which, perhaps, has been the biggest laugh hit ever recorded in burlesque. Weber is a comedian who never lies down. He is versatile and gets every shred of comedy out of a line or a situation. Dolly Sweet was soubrette of last season's "Lid-Lifters" and she at once dances her way into the front ranks of prominent burlesque personalities. She is pretty, is a competent worker and what is a bigger thing yet she is very much in love with her work. Dolly puts over her numbers in a way that hypnotizes her audiences. Others in the cast are Dolly Meadon the prima donna who was with the Golden Crooks last season; Billie Morre a California baritone, who was discovered by Talbot and who will show the public before the season is over that she was a very unusual find; J. Clayton Frye, Edward Jerome Russell Hill and the Constance sisters. Then, of course, there is a beauty chorus which is up to the standard of the famous Talbot choruses. "Delivering the Goods" is the title of the vehicle and it affords abundant fun opportunities and scattered throughout the production are specialties and features which prove a surprise and a revelation.

Johnnie Weber With "The Lid-Lifters."

New Postal Rates in Brief.

On all letters of an ounce or fraction thereof, postage must be prepaid at the rate of three cents on all out-of-town letters, and two cents for all drop or local letters. Postal cards must be prepaid at the rate of two cents, whether for this city or elsewhere.

Our Paper Purely Local.

We are often compelled to refuse space for interesting items of news of a general character, but we must reserve our space for purely local matter, or at least matter that concerns our home people. We cover a large territory, from 55th St. to the south city limits and from State St. west to Marquette Pk., hence we have little space for long-winded articles, no matter how important the subject or for items that may please certain people. We gladly give space to all local matter, personals or anything concerning our own home district or for the good of our people. All matter must be signed, not for publication, but that we may know the matter is genuine. We also ask that our writers be brief; we have no space to kill, and are compelled to condense all matter.

ADDITIONAL ENGLEWOOD NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Hollister and children were guests a few days of Dr. and Mrs. F. A. Lofton of 6425 Stewart Ave.

Dr. and Mrs. William J. Arnold of 149 Normal Pkwy. have gone to Biloxi, Miss., where they will remain for the winter.

Mrs. Charles Hughes of 6626 Union Ave. will entertain next Wednesday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Clay Gutheridge of New York.

Mrs. James E. Miller of 6210 Normal Blvd. died at her home Saturday. Services were held at Covenant Baptist church Monday morning and the remains were taken to Milwaukee for burial.

A bunco party will be given at Mrs. David Roller's, 511 60th St., Wednesday, Nov. 21st, at 8 p. m., for the benefit of the Lewis-Champlin Patriotic Circle. Do your bit towards helping the soldiers from this district.

Barnard Dobney, who will be remembered as the boy soprano of St. Bernard's choir and later as a dandy mounted police officer, received half a column in the Houston (Tex.) Post for his wonderful work with the baton as drum major of the Seventh Illinois regiment band.

Mr. Alfred M. Fletcher of Springfield, Mass., son Prof. A. M. Fletcher, so well known in early days of Englewood, spent several days this week with his relatives, Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Regan, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Hunter, Mrs. William E. Ayers and Mrs. Anna Hunter, en route for California.

Englewood High School Notes.

Mr Tower and family motored to Rochelle over Saturday and Sunday. They had a most enjoyable trip.

Both heavy and lightweight basketball practice has begun. Mr. Percival finds he has some good material and is working to pick out a strong team.

Miss Klein is organizing girls' volley ball teams. This game is a combination of tennis and basketball. The girls are being organized according to their subjects e. g. history, botany, English, etc.

The inter-class basketball games have all been played and the championship won. The heavyweight title went to Physics, the lightweight to room 22, and the featherweight to room 8. Some good material has been developed for the coming basketball season.

Last Thursday afternoon the boys of the school were gathered together in junior hall. Mr. Armstrong told them of the plans the Y. M. C. A. has for raising $35,000,000. The boys are to canvass this district for subscriptions. Give them all the encouragement you can.

Englewood's game last Saturday with Crane was probably the most closely-contested game of this season. The teams fought for three scoreless quarters. With only five minutes to play Palmer went over the line for a touchdown. Shortly afterward he kicked goal, thus making the final score 7-0. The Hyde Park game will be played this Saturday at Stagg field. The newspapers give Hyde Park the edge, but our boys are not at all dismayed. Percy Wills who has been out of the game because of injury to his knee, will go in for Englewood this coming game. We expect a good game and a big crowd. Come out and see us win.

Punishment for Breaking Street Lamps.

Each year the department of gas and electricity is forced to expend approximately $30,000 to repair breaks occasioned by malicious mischief to the street lighting equipment. Every globe that is broken costs the city $3, and if the lamp is also broken it costs $8 to replace it. Not only is this expenditure an unnecessary waste, but in addition to this, streets and alleys are in darkness because of the broken lamps. As a consequence thieves, thugs holdup men frequent these dark places and ply their vicious trade in comparative safety.

Interference with a street lamp is classed as a misdemeanor and punishable by a fine, imprisonment in the Bridewell, or both, at the discretion of the court. A vigorous campaign is to be waged against this wanton waste. Give your co-operation and help stamp it out.

More Police Reserves Are Wanted in Englewood.

Every police district is to have one company of police reserves except Englewood, the Seventeenth precinct, which being far the largest, is to have two. If you are of legal age, in good health and of good character, you are eligible and are requested to do your bit. Membership in the reserves of the police will be as beneficial to you personally as to the public, as you will receive free physical training and instruction in revolver practice and other valuable instruction; also full police authority, and you do not have to buy uniforms out of your own pocket. Those having motortrucks and other automobiles will be classed in the motor platoon.

The several hundred civic co-operators of this district are requested to enlarge their scope of usefulness by doing a little active work in this department. Come forward at once and save the time and expense of sending each co-operator a personal letter.

Information and application cards can be had by mail on request to
M. DONKER,
Police Reserves, Englewood Police Station, 64th St. and Wentworth Ave.

Get "Copy" In, in Time.

All "copy," advertisements and other, must be received at this office by Wednesday night at the latest, and preferably before noon of Wednesday if special position is desired. We go to press at seven o'clock Thursday morning and the forms are locked at that time. The rest of the day is consumed in press work and preparing the papers for the mails to reach the readers early Friday morning, and we cannot receive copy later than Wednesday under any circumstance. We are sorry each week to have to refuse good matter, but we must set a time, and it is as above.

Bell System
"SINEWS OF WAR"
Money has been called the "sinews of war"
IN the case of your telephone system, however, the real sinews of war are the things that money buys—cable, wire, pole lines, switchboards, and other equipment necessary in furnishing telephone service.
The Bell System's "sinews of war" include a billion dollar telephone plant, of which the following are parts:
Poles enough to make a solid fence across the continent.
Lead and Tin enough to load more than 8,150 coal cars and make a train 62 miles long.
Switchboards enough to extend 53 miles in one solid line.
Wire enough to wind around the earth at the Equator more than 800 times.
Telephones enough standing side by side to extend 820 miles, or from New York to Grand Rapids, Michigan.
Buildings enough to house 180,000 trained telephone workers.
Such are the telephone "sinews of war" mobilized for service to the Nation.

ALMOST HELPLESS

Mr. Reuter Went Through a Terrible Siege of Kidney Trouble. Doan's Brought Back His Health.

"After an injury I was in terrible shape from kidney trouble," says D. Reuter, North St., West Chicago, Ill. "I couldn't stoop because of the awful pains in my back and the steady, dull misery almost drove me frantic. I had to be helped out of bed mornings, the pains across my kidneys were so bad and nobody knows the agony I went through. I couldn't do anything and was almost helpless; it seemed I would never get well.

Mr. Reuter

"The urine passed far too often and burned like scalding water. The passages were scanty and I had no control over them. At times everything in front of me grew dark and I couldn't see for several minutes. I perspired profusely and I was thirsty all the time. For two years I suffered, trying medicine after medicine without relief. I was just about discouraged and didn't think I would ever be able to work again.

"Hearing about Doan's Kidney Pills I used them and four boxes cured me. My kidneys became normal, my back got well and strong and all the other troubles disappeared."

Sworn to before me,

Gave Her a Tip.

It was her first voyage, and she had made herself disliked by the officers because of her many foolish questions. It fell to the lot of the steward to silence her.

"Doesn't this ship tip a good deal, sir?" she asked that official.

"Perhaps it does, madam; it is no doubt trying to set a good example to the passengers."

No Cause for Action.

The arrest of Peter Leach was brought about by the activities of his buxom wife, relates an exchange. The couple were facing the judge.

Peter was a ne'er-do-well, come-day-go-day, shiftless sort of a chap, his main object in life seeming to be that of evading honest toil. Not only that; he had contracted the habit of coming home "full of booze" and beating his thrifty wife.

The testimony, to which the judge had listened patiently for an hour, was brought to a close after which his honor said: "It seems to me, Mrs. Leach, that this is a case where prosecution is possible for nonsupport."

The woman drew herself up to her full and massive height and exclaimed in tones filled with honest rebuke: "Oh, your honor, they can't bring that up agin me! I've took in washin' an' gone out scrubbin' for th' last ten years an' give him what you might say was a fine livin'! No, he can't bring that agin' me, judge."

Fast Runners.

She looked with some apprehension over the ginghams spread before her.

"These don't look like fast colors to me," she said.

"Indeed they are, ma'am," answered the shopman. "You just ought to see them when they begin to run."

LESSON FOR NOVEMBER 18

NEHEMIAH'S PRAYER ANSWERED

LESSON TEXT—Nehemiah 2:1-11.

GOLDEN TEXT—Ask and it shall be given unto you.—Matthew 7:7.

It was four months after Nehemiah learned of the desolation of Jerusalem that he had the opportunity to make known his request to the king. Just why he did not test the king's attitude toward him and his project earlier, we have no information. Perhaps there was no great function at which he was called upon to minister in this interval, or his turn of service had not arrived, or his duties were so exacting that no opportunity was afforded for him to unbosom his grief to the king.

I. Nehemiah's Request to the King (vv. 1-8). (1) Its occasion, v. 1. As cup-bearer he was ministering before the king. The cup-bearer was more than a mere valet. He entered very closely into the life's interests of the king, so that the inner life and spirit of the cup-bearer was known. It was expected of such servants that they manifest perfect happiness while in the presence of the king. To appear in his presence otherwise would likely be to the displeasure of the king. Nehemiah's sad countenance while thus serving awakened the king's suspicion. The matter was serious for Nehemiah was afraid under the circumstances.

(2) The king's inquiry, v. 2. The king perceived that Nehemiah's countenance was sad, though he was not sick, and he knew that something extraordinary had come into the life of his cup-bearer.

(3) The effect upon Nehemiah, v. 2. His heart was filled with fear. He did not know but what this impropriety was so great as to cause his dismissal. His fear was more than that of losing his position; to be dismissed from being cup-bearer would mean the loss of an opportunity to present his request to the king; and, without the king's sanction and aid, his enterprise would fail.

(4) Nehemiah's tactful reply, v. 3. He seeks to conciliate the king by expressing a deep interest in the royal life and person. He says: "May the king live forever," and then tells that the cause of his grief was the desolation of the city where his fathers were buried. This note of patriotism met a response in the king's heart, causing him to inquire as to his wish.

(5) The contents of Nehemiah's request, vv. 5-8. (a) To be sent to Judah to build the walls of Jerusalem, vv. 5, 6. This request virtually meant to be granted a leave of absence from the Persian court and to be appointed military governor of that part of the kingdom of Artaxerxes. The king, doubtless, saw that such a move would be of particular benefit to his kingdom politically, owing to the strategic position of Jerusalem, between Babylon and Egypt. In the case of the breaking out of hostilities between these powers, to have a fortified city in Palestine would be of immense importance. At the king's request, a definite time was set for this leave of absence, v. 6. He remained in Jerusalem for twelve years. A side light on the king's gracious attitude toward Nehemiah is given in this: "The queen also sitting by him." She is not named, but in all probability it was Esther. Her presence would embolden Nehemiah to ask, and influence the king in granting the request. She had "come to the kingdom for such a time as this," Esther 4:14.

(b) For letters to the governors beyond the river, v. 6. Doubtless the path of his journey was a dangerous one, and the travelers' safety depended upon having credentials from the king. These letters were more than mere credentials. They were orders for actually conveying him and his party to Judah. Ezra, years before, had desisted from asking a band of soldiers, but Nehemiah was free to ask such a favor. It was right in both cases, but not expedient in that of Ezra. Many problems are clear, if we distinguish between that which is lawful and that which is expedient.

(c) A letter of requisition for supplies of timber, v. 8. This timber was needed, first for the palace or castle, that is, for the fortress near the temple; second, for the walls and gates of the city; and third, for the king's official residence.

II. Nehemiah's Request Granted, v. 8. Nehemiah was a tactful diplomat. He exercised sound sense and prudence in all things, but he supremely depended upon God and prayed for God's disposal of the king's heart as he made his request known, v. 4. The king granted his request "according to the good hand of my God upon me," v. 8. He ascribes the success of his undertaking to God. We should learn in all things to give to God the credit for our success.

III. Nehemiah's Journey to Jerusalem, vv. 9-11. He journeyed from Shushan to Jerusalem under the protection of a military escort. This was of double value: protection and safety. When it was known that Nehemiah was undertaking this work with the consent of the king, Sanballat and Tobiah were greatly grieved. It always is a grief to the enemy when that which will further the interest of God and his people is being made to succeed. When he reached Jerusalem, he did not at once make his purpose known. He waited for three days and then viewed the situation at night. It is wise to lay well one's plans and to have the work of the Lord well in hand before announcing your purpose to the people. To disclose plans at the improper time means defeat of your purpose.

Indifference.

Indifference never wrote great works, nor thought out striking inventions, nor reared the solemn architecture that awes the soul, nor breathed sublime music, nor painted glorious pictures, nor undertook heroic philanthropies. All these grandeurs are born of enthusiasm, and are done heartily. —Anon.

Forgive and Forget.

We should endeavor to forget injuries, and bury them in love—Doctor Watts.

THINKING ALOUD IN RUSSIA

Crowds Assemble on Streets to Participate in Debates Which Really Amount to Very Little.

Along the Nevsky that evening in the parks and open spaces, little herds of people were packed together as sheep crowd together under a tree on an August afternoon. In the center two persons debated, shaking their hands in each others' faces. They had been talking like that for weeks all over Russia, writes Arthur Ruhle in Collier's Weekly.

All Petrograd was one big village meeting—the village habit of talking over together the village's business being transferred to the capital. And coming in late at night from the edge of town, you could see every now and then these black little clumps of people, still talking, still huddled there, vaguely pathetic, like sheep under the trees.

Any one of hundreds of excited phrases flung off in these little debating clubs might, I suppose, have sent a man to jail or Siberia a generation ago. Now they could say anything, gather anywhere, listen as long as they wanted. Russians have a gift for talking and a happy lack of self-consciousness in doing it. They really like to make speeches. Mr. Root, in one of the lighter moments of his stay in Petrograd, remarked that one of the tragedies of the Russian revolution was the turning loose on the world 180,000,000 orators.

Now one saw some old peasant, a giant of a man, come down with a barge of firewood from the north, perhaps, holding forth with great quaintness of phrase and gesture to an amused group of city folks. Or while one talked some expansive old fellow, in the long coat, cap and boots of the old-style merchant, would be doing a sort of comic accompaniment on the edge of the crowd, throwing out his arms and putting a "galubchik moi" ("my little dove") between every other sentence.

Much of this talk which looks interesting—so expressive is voice and gesture—turns out to be a mere sort of thinking aloud.

Indians in the Great War.

Indians have been volunteering for service in the United States army since 1861. In 1892 Lieutenant Scott, later chief of the staff, organized and trained a troop of the Seventh cavalry, which was highly commended by the inspector general of the war department.

The Indian is trained as the Swiss train their boys, so that they may be able to fire a gun accurately and earn a living. He has all the qualities of a good soldier—endurance, patience, courage and an instinct for scouting, London Tit-Bits says.

The Canadian government recognized the great fighting ability of the many Indian nations and tribes who volunteered their services for king and country at the outbreak of the war, and there are hundreds of Indians enrolled in many of the different Canadian regiments at the front. Many have made the supreme sacrifice, among the first to fall being Lieut. Cameron Brant of the Six Nations Indians, who was a lineal descendant of the distinguished colonial warrior, Capt. Joseph Brant of Revolutionary fame.

The Strength of Woman.

"The work women are doing in this war!" exclaimed a member of the railroads war board, at a banquet. "Driving ammunition trucks, digging trenches; even, as in Russia, fighting in the front line!

"Woman comes more and more to resemble Cornelius Husk's daughter, Mame. When Husky Mame, as she was known in the township, presented her future husband to the old man, Corn Husk sighed and said:

"'Take her, son, but take good keer on her, for the little ladybird has been riz tender-like. Four acres a day is all I ever ast her to plow, and two acres of corn is all she's been used to hoe 'twixt sun-up and dark. She kin do light work, seeh as rail-splittin' and well-diggin', but she ain't used to rough stuff, and you must be gentle with her. I tell you, son, it's hard for the old man to give his little sunshine up. He'll have to split his own wood and tend his own stock now.'"

Dream Came True.

The encyclopedic Andrew Lang is responsible for the following dream record, according to Katherine Cox, writing in the Occult Review:

"A certain barrister sat up late one night to write letters, and at about 12:30 went out to put them in the post. He returned to his rooms, and while undressing for bed missed a check for a large sum, which he had received during the day. He hunted everywhere in vain, went to bed, slept, and dreamed that he saw the check curled round an area railing not far from his own door. He woke, got up, dressed, walked down the street and found his check in exactly the spot where he had seen it in his dream!"

Clay Beds of the Connecticut.

In the clay beds of the Connecticut are found certain wonderful and beautiful concretions. These appear in four principal types: Disk-shaped, cylindrical, botryoidal (resembling grape clusters), and imitations of animal forms. The latter are the more striking, the forms imitated including fishes, birds, ant-eaters, elephants, dogs, lions, tigers, etc. A remarkable fact is that each clay-bed has a form of concretion peculiar to itself, and the principal types are never found intermingled in the same bed. The beds are composed of stratified, river-drift clays, or "Champlain" clays.

Repairing Mirrors.

To renew the silvering on the back of a mirror, lay it face downward on a smooth surface and prepare a piece of tinfoil large enough to patch the damaged part by rubbing it with mercury. Place the patch in position, lay a sheet of paper over it and put on it a weight having a perfectly flat surface and heavy enough to press it down tightly. Let the mirror be in this position for a day or two and the foil will adhere to the glass.

Kipling Made "Tommy Atkins."

Rudyard Kipling has written an American story, "Captains Courageous." Kipling made "Tommy Atkins." Sir George Younghusband, who has been in the British service for forty years, declares that nobody ever heard of "Tommy" until Kipling made Private Mulvaney and the other two of the "Soldiers Three" talk about him. He says that he had asked innumerable old British officers if they ever heard of "Tommy Atkins" before Kipling wrote about him, and they all agree that they never did.

Spotted the Winner.

A gentleman who lived in central Africa for many years possesses an amusing drawing of a "race meeting" out there. A leopard is chasing, and rapidly overhauling, a fat old white man, and two gaily apareled natives are lookers-on.

"Can you spot the winner?" murmurs one to the other.

"The winner," is the solemn reply, "is spotted already!"

Some men's honesty is the result of lack of opportunity.

A loafer is a man who rests before he gets tired.

When He Was Born.

A recruit walked up the main street recently without saluting any of the officers he met. Finally one of them, noticing the apparent nonchalance of the man, approached him and asked:

"See here, are you a private?"

"No, I am an Italian," the rookie answered.

One of the recruits, a naturalized Pole, was being examined by his captain.

"When were you born?" the latter asked.

"Let see—twent'-two years."

"You mean eighteen ninety-four?"

"Yes," agreed the rookie.

"What month?"

The man puzzled over this a few minutes. Then, with a cheerful smile, he suggested, amiably:

"Oh, September, October, June, anything! I no care."

Island of Mindoro.

So prolific was the Island of Mindoro in the Philippines at one time in the production of rice that it was popularly called "the granary of the Philippines." Sugar, cotton, hemp, and other crops thrive on the island, when properly cultivated. Yet its economic conditions are extremely backward, and a large part of its population is in a constant state of poverty. It has altogether about 39,000 inhabitants. Among these are 18,000 Tagalogs, 7,200 Mangyanes, 2,000 Visayans, and of Bocanos less than 1,000. Of the whole, over 7,000 are pronounced savage; a large proportion of the remainder are densely ignorant.

Pessimists are seldom as tired of the world as the world is of them.

Usually a truly good woman has a sad look that is discouraging.

"Who Will Win This Battle?"

Much of your comfort depends upon knowing that your system will perform its functions properly.

Your kidneys are the filters of the body. If they become inactive and fail to eliminate the waste matter, they are apt to throw the whole mechanism of the body out of order, thus toxic poisons can accumulate in the system and be as deadly as snake venom.

Besides causing the minor ailments of rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago and backaches, neglect of the kidneys is apt to develop into more serious diseases, such as diabetes or stone in the bladder.

Rid the body of toxic poisons—clean the bladder and kidneys and cure the twinges of rheumatism with Anuric, and you win the battle of life.

Anuric was first discovered by Dr. Pierce, and has benefited thousands of sufferers as well as appeased and eliminated the ravages of the more serious kidney diseases. Now procurable at drug stores for 60c, or send Dr. V. M. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 10 cents for trial package.

If you have rheumatism or kidney trouble, why not let Dr. Pierce's Anuric (double strength) win the battle?

CHICAGO, ILL.—"Just a few lines in regard to Doctor Pierce's Anuric Tablets which I took for kidney trouble. I am glad to recommend them to everybody. I know that they are good or I would not recommend them. After taking a few bottles I saw that the swelling was going down so I continued their use. I have quit taking them now and am cured—getting along fine and dandy

"One old lady, 65 years old, to whom I have recommended Anuric says that it did her good, took the swelling out of her feet"—REECE JONES, 6323 S. Seeley Ave.

Horserace Proves Man's Age.

A man's age was decided in a peculiar manner before a Greenwich, England, court recently. The military authorities claimed that a man, George Frederick Grandeer, was not forty-three years old, and therefore still liable for services. The man's defense was that he was past his forty-third birthday. In support of this defense he stated that he was born on June 3, 1874, the day George Frederick won the Derby, and that he was named after the horse. The defense was accepted, and the man was discharged.

As Old as His Son.

Sixty days in the workhouse was the sentence, but it had nothing to do with the startling reply of the prisoner, standing before Judge Pugh to receive justice on a charge of assault, relates the Philadelphia Press.

The usual number of questions was asked. Then the judge inquired:

"Your father living?"

"Yes."

"How old is he?"

"Same age as me."

Judge Pugh glared.

"I said how old is your father?"

"As old as I am, your honor."

"Take care!" warned the court. "Now, answer properly."

"I have," said the prisoner. "He became my father the same day I became his son."

Speaking of the high price of meats, Casey is led to remark: "Ut used to be thot a poor mon could git a piece iv liver or a soup bone fer a dime, an' now if yez would ax the butcher fer a dime's wort iv mate, he wouldn't hit yez schmell the hook it hangs on."

They were admiring the beauties of one of Englewood's new buildings when Casey asked his greenhorn cousin, "Kin yez till me, Moike, whot kapes thim bricks togithr?" "Shure," says Mike, "Ut's the morthar." "No, ut ain't," says Casey. "Ut's the mortha thot kapes thim apart."

Mrs. A.—"You say brandy's a good remedy for colic, but I don't agree with you." Mrs. B.—"What do you know about it?" Mrs. A.—"A great deal. Before I began to keep brandy in the house my husband seldom had colic, but now he has it almost every day."

Mrs. O'Mulligan—"Phwhat do yez think av dhress reform?" Mrs. Whalen—"Dhress reform, is it? Shure it's a great savin'. It's on'y yisterday I reformed th' ould man's pants to fit Denny, an' it's no small job, neither."

"Charley, dear," said young Mrs. Torkins, "I hear that some of the politicians want to efface party lines." "Yes?" "Well, I hope they do. Having your telephone ring every time a neighbor puts in a call is a perfect nuisance."

Speaking of an Englewood friend, Casey says, "He do be wan iv thim min that if he failed in business would thank God he had his health; and if his health failed him he would thank God he had good business, and if both failed he would say, 'Will shure the wan do be no good widout the other.'"

The two children were discussing a visitor, when Tommy said: "I don't think Aunt Mary is going to stay long; she didn't bring her trunk." But the younger sister was unconvinced, and said: "Huh! Look how long that baby has stayed, and it didn't bring no trunk nor anything."

The younger girl invaded the drawing room where her sister's fiance was waiting. "Here," said the child, "is a candy for you." And she gave him a hard white lozenge. "Oh, what a nice white lozenge!" said the young man, putting it in his mouth and beginning to suck vigorously. "Yes, isn't it?" lisped the little girl. "It was striped wiv pink once."

An Englewood lady always on the search for knowledge, especially when it costs nothing, mistook a well-known lawyer for a physician, and asked him "Is it better to lie on the right side or the left?" and the lawyer, who understood the mistaken identity, answered, "If one is on the right side, madam, it often isn't necessary to lie at all."

I had a call this week from a man who lived in Englewood over twenty years ago and who 'moved West," fully convinced that the town would never grow any larger. He sold property here then for $2,100 that is now worth $10,000, and his dream of the golden West has become dross; yet he is still giving sage advice and actually believes he knows all about prosperity.

A chatty young debutante was taken into dinner by a Pennsylvania steel magnate, whom she was anxious to propitiate. Her attempts at conversation met with little response, however, and having exhausted nearly every conceivable subject she broached that of music. "Do you like Beethoven's works?" she inquired, brightly. "Never visited them," replied the other, tersely; "what does he manufacture?"

A wild-eyed, disheveled gentleman, apparently from the country, rushed into the police station, shouting he had been robbed. The sergeant finally succeeded in soothing him into coherency. "Now, let's hear all about it," said he. "Well, a half an hour before we reached Chicago I had $5,000 in paper that I was bringing here to put in the bank. When I got outside the depot I couldn't find it anywhere. I don't know where it went. That money means a whole lot to me. If I don't—" "Now, now! Don't get excited again," exclaimed the officer. "That train breaks up here. Maybe the porter saw your money when he was cleaning up. I'll send for him." "Did you see anything of a small package when you were cleaning up your car?" the sergeant asked when the porter arrived. "Yas, sah. It's a lot of money, sah." "Where is it now?" "Here, sah," and he produced it from an inside pocket. The gentleman from the country cheered up perceptibly when he saw the roll. "That's it!" he exclaimed. "And it's all here, the whole $5,000." "Now, look here, porter," said the officer severely, "I want to know why you didn't turn that package in the minute you found it." "Why, sah," he replied in an injured tone, "I s'posed de gemman had left it for a tip."

An Invitation of the Comfort Aid Association.

An invitation is extended to you to attend the Comfort and Aid association meeting of the Seventy-fifth Army district at field house, Hamilton Park, 72nd and Normal Blvd., Friday, November 16. Plans for the work of the district will be discussed, finished articles will be brought in and work given out. Come and do your bit. If you cannot knit, you can do organization work, clerical work, letter writing, etc. By quick action now on our part we can supply these boys that are at camps, as well as the 75 that are to go within the next two weeks, with the comforts they need. This organization is not to be taken by anybody as a reflection on the efficient and thorough manner in which the United States government is looking after its soldiers, but rather the purposes are to provide our boys with the little comforts and luxuries that any one of us would want if we were away from home. The president of this association is Mr. William B. Owen of the Normal school; John B. Devine, vice president; Mr. George B. Ingersoll, treasurer, and Mrs. George S. Haskell, secretary. Executive committee: Miss Norine Mulvihill, Miss Grace Nichols, Robert Barbee, Dr. William D. Byrne, William J. Jackson.

Superior Court Judge Denis E. Sullivan and First Assistant United States District Attorney Joseph B. Fleming will speak at the Hamilton Park Field house Friday, November 16, at 8 p. m. in the interests of the Seventy-fifth National army district men, both volunteers and National army conscripts.

The Civic Music club of Hamilton Park will sing several members and the various committees will report on the progress of the work. All citizens, both men and women, are urged to attend this meeting.

Surprise on Mrs. Seifert.

Mrs. T. H. Brebach of Gresham gave a surprise party on her friend, Mrs. Fred Seifert, at her home, 5446 Michigan Ave., Thursday night, it being her birthday. All the guests present, numbering about forty, were friends from Eastern Star and Masonic lodges. Cinch was played. Mrs. Wasson won first ladies' prize, a beautiful center piece, while second prize went to Mrs. Carpenter, a hand-painted plate. Gentlemen's prize was won by Mr. Clark, a suspender set, and second prize, a ash tray, by Mrs. Schaffer.

Those winning in the card contest were Mrs. Livinick. She won a box of writing paper, while Mr. Hilderbrandt won second prize, a insence burner. The guests presented Mrs. Seifert for a birthday gift a beautiful gold Eastern Star ring, while Doctor Stolls' mother presented her with a gold cameo brooch. A high bouquet of roses was given her by her daughter, Bessie, and another bouquet was given by Mr. and Mrs. Schaffer. At midnight a lunch consisting of coffee, sandwiches, cake, olives and pickles was served.

All left after having a good time and wishing Mrs. Seifert many more happy birthdays.

Englewood Woman's Club.

Sociology Department Meets Monday Morning—A Business Session in the Afternoon.

The program on Monday morning, November 12, was under the direction of Mrs. Mabel Hammond Parker, state art chairman. She exhibited paintings, etchings and pottery which have been used throughout the state as a traveling exhibit.

"Elimination and not accumulation should be our watchword."

"We must discriminate in buying."

"Art is needed, as never before, to rest us," said Mrs. Parker.

Mrs. Bertha Jaques gave a clear description of the way etchings are made. The drawings being made on waxed copper plates with sharp steel needles, these plates are dipped in nitrochloric acid, which bites out the lines on the copper. An etcher must be expert in three lines, namely: drawing, biting the plate with the acid and printing. She also explained the printing process, "states" of plate and limited editions, and told us the difference between a dry point and an etching.

Mrs. Frank Dudley was heard in three vocal numbers, "The Lass With the Delicate Air," Dr. T. A. Arne; "Cradle Song," McFadden, and a selection from "Mignon."

Mr. Dudley spoke on the composition of pictures, explaining the use of the finder or frame in selecting the part of the landscape to be painted and the part mechanics played in the drawing. He said also that etchers usually have a better sense of composition than painters, who are apt to be absorbed in color.

Reports and announcements were called for by Mrs. Charles Leigh, chairman of this department, which follow:

Mrs. Samson will begin her class in public speaking at ten o'clock next Monday morning.

Mrs. Barbee reviewed "The Soul of a Bishop," by H. G. Wells, and gave a list of the newest books worth reading.

Mrs. Stebbings will take the first group of children to the Art Institute on Saturday morning at ten o'clock.

A good report was heard regarding the Allied Arts and Crafts exhibit at the Parker school, which was given recently. Mrs. Ashton made this report.

Assembling at two o'clock, with the vice president, Mrs. R. Maynard Reed in the chair, members and guests heard the minutes of the last meeting, which were read by Mrs. Nichols, the secretary, after "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean," was sung by all.

The following philanthropies were recommended by the board and are to be voted on next Monday afternoon at the business meeting: $5 for a Christmas party at Neighborhood house; $25 to the Illinois Congress of Mothers; $50 to Englewood branch United Charities, and $50 to the Englewood Law and Order league.

If the attendance at this meeting is as large as it has been the past month at the afternoon functions the result should be a wide-awake meeting, and that surely aids in keeping a club alive. Each member should be as interested in a business meeting as she is in the other activities of her club.

The following committee from the Englewood Woman's club are workers in the $75,000,000 Y. M. C. A. war fund campaign: Mrs. W. J. Roberts, chairman; Mrs. A. W. Axtell, vice chairman, and Mrs. J. Dunn, secretary and treasurer. Contributions to be handed to the latter and to be sent as coming from this club.

They were knitting, knitting, knitting,
Which, as you know, was fitting;
They were knitting for the boys across the sea.
Finally knitting was suspended,
The clicking then was ended,
And we listened to a man from Italy.

This gentleman was Luigi Gulli, Italy's foremost pianist, who was received with cordial enthusiasm. A musician who proved himself an artist by his excellent interpretation and splendid technique in several Chopin numbers.

Mr. Owen R. Lovejoy of New York was the speaker on Monday afternoon, whose subject was "Children in Wartime."

Since the breaking out of war in England he told us that there was a relax in the standards of child protection, school laws were set aside, juvenile courts suspended, probation officers dismissed, half of the male teachers in the schools resigned and went into war service, fathers to the front, mothers in munition factories, lights were dimmed to lessen Zeppelin raids, and police taken off their beat. Child protection was entirely abandoned. The entire school system is in ruins, which must be reconstructed after the war.

The same is true in other countries. Germany in one year, in 17 of her cities, had an increase in juvenile crime of 55 per cent.

In France the schools are being revived. Children with teachers are using secret passages each day, locating in a little hut or an unknown room, where study is conducted. They are sometimes within an earshot of the cannons' roar.

"Children in this country must not be neglected. We have every reason to protect the activities of our children."

"Every child born in America under the American flag is entitled to three square meals a day."

"Financially and industrially we are able to take charge of all children in the country and keep them in school. The public school should be so vital that they will wish to stay with it as long as necessary. It should be made practical and alluring, so that children may develop virtue, intelligence and industrial efficiency," said Mr. Lovejoy.

Next Monday morning the sociology department will hear Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank. A business meeting, as previously stated, will take place in the afternoon.

The Fortnightly Club.

The Fortnightly club of Englewood will meet Tuesday afternoon, November 20, at the home of Mrs. George E. Stanton, 6566 Yale Ave. Mrs. Elia W. Peattie will give a talk on "The Influences of the War on Religion and Churches."

Work and Worker.

Usually it is the worker that is too soft rather than the work that is too hard.—The Youth's Companion.

Daily Thought.

All may have, if they dare try, a glorious life or grave.—George Herbert.

The Englewood Sunday Evening Club.

We feel that the Englewood Sunday Evening club is to be congratulated on being able to secure as a speaker the gentleman who comes before us next Sunday evening, Dr. Frederick C. Howe, commissioner of immigration at the port of New York. As may be inferred from his subject, "Standing at the Gates of Ellis Island," he will tell us something of the immigration problem as seen at the great port of entry to New York. It is a study of immigration in its human aspect as well as of the problem of the consequences of the European war. The magazines today are filled with articles dealing with this question, trying to determine whether we shall be flooded with immigrants seeking to escape from the heavy taxation which is bound to come in Europe, or whether the flood will be turned the other way. If there is any man in this country who can speak authoritatively on this matter Doctor Howe is the person.

Doctor Howe studied at Allegheny college, Johns Hopkins, Maryland law school and the New York law school, and has received the degrees of A. B., M. A. and Ph. D. He practiced law in Cleveland from 1894 to 1909, was a member of the city council, president of the sinking fund commission and a member of the Ohio senate. In 1905 he was sent to Great Britain as the special United States commissioner to investigate municipal ownership, and is today one of the foremost lecturers in our colleges and universities on municipal administration, taxation, etc. He is the author of many books on those subjects, among them being "Privilege and Democracy in America," "European Cities at Work," "Socialized Germany," and a contributor to many of the first-class reviews and magazines. From 1911 to 1914 he was director of the People's institute of New York city, and since then has been commissioner of immigration at that port.

The soloist next Sunday evening will be Miss Helen Edith Peterson, contralto. The doors open at 6:45 o'clock, there is an organ recital from 7:15 to 7:30 and our service begins promptly at 7:30 o'clock. You and your friends are most cordially invited to meet with us next Sunday evening in the auditorium of the Englewood Presbyterian church for a pleasant and profitable hour.

William Jennings Bryan in Englewood.

On November 19, in the auditorium of the Englewood Baptist church, corner of Englewood and Stewart Aves., the Hon. William Jennings Bryan will speak to the people of this community on the subject, "Fundamentals," which deals with man's relations to government, society and God. There is no necessity for us to mention the qualities which have made Mr. Bryan one of the outstanding figures of American social and political life. He is a man whose courage is equal to his convictions and we cannot but admire him for clinging to them, even though they may stand in the way of his material welfare.

Hon. William Jennings Bryan.

He is perhaps the most brilliant speaker on the American platform today, and is often referred to as a "silver-tongued orator."

We feel that the Englewood Sunday Evening club is to be congratulated on securing Mr. Bryan for this meeting, and thus enabling the Englewood people an opportunity of hearing him. There will undoubtedly be a great demand for seats for this meeting and, as they are selling rapidly, it is advisable to secure them before the evening of the meeting. Tickets may be had at the Englewood State bank, C. F. Manahan's jewelry store, corner of Stewart Ave. and 63d St., or at the Englewood Sunday Evening club.

This is the third week night meeting held under the auspices of the club, the speakers at the other two being the Hon. William Howard Taft and Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, and the hearty co-operation of the community in its support has encouraged the club in its efforts to bring to Englewood men and women of ability and influence.

Bazaar at St. Bernard's Opens Monday.

A Christmas sale for the benefit of St. Bernard's church will be held in the hall at 66th St. and Stewart Ave. beginning on Monday evening, November 19, and terminating with a turkey dinner on Thursday evening, November 22.

It is planned to entertain the old parishioners and clergy on Monday evening, the 19th, and the fraternal organizations on Tuesday, the 20th.

A literary and musical program will be given each evening and refreshments will also be served.

Attractive booths will be in charge of the married and young ladies sodalities and will be well-stocked with articles of beauty and utility appropriate to the season.

Story Hour at the Hiram Kelly Branch.

The Hiram Kelly Branch library will hold the usual weekly story hour on Friday afternoon at 4 p. m. for the older children, and Saturday morning at 10 a. m. for the little ones. This week the stories will be: "The Storm Ship," "How Clara Carver Saved Portland," and one of the Uncle Remus stories. All children invited to attend.

Marine Recruiting Station Opened in Englewood.

With an officer and fife and drum players used to parade streets for men the United States marine corps have opened a recruiting station at 6303 Halsted St. They are open for business and hope to get several good men from this part of Chicago. It is a branch of the main recruiting station at 628 S. State St.

There is a vast difference in the modern methods of recruiting compared to the old methods when our forefathers were going into the army. When the average citizen walks down Halsted or 63rd Sts., and sees the marine recruiting sergeant standing by his signboard he probably does not think anything about the matter. But if he should see the sergeant marching down the middle of the street, with a drummer and fife player at his heels, followed by a private bearing a placard covered with convincing reasons why every man with red blood should join the marines he would probably be profoundly surprised, would go home and tell his wife about it and would mention the strange sight to his acquaintances. But, nevertheless, that was the way they got the men in the early days of the last century. Fifes and drums went roaring and shrilling through the streets and the locksmiths or the carpenters' or the tanners' apprentice looked eagerly from the shop door to see the marine go by. Then perhaps, if he had a little too much at the village tavern, or if Molly or Jennie or Peggy had not been kind to him, he would slip away and enlist.

Appeal different now. Today the recruiting officer points out to the young man the advantages of becoming a marine and wearing the insignia of the world, the eagle and the anchor. At the present time it is not necessary to explain to the young men that their country needs them and that the outcome of this great world war will be on the way that they respond to the colors. But in the times of peace the young man is told of the schools, of the travel, of the athletics and a host of other things, but in 1800 there were few or none of these things and the recruiting officer was obliged to stir the romance latent in every young heart and the love of adventure which runs with red blood to get the men he needed and even then he had a hard time doing it.

Today the traveling salesman, who is called a drummer, probably does not know that the origin of this picturesque name was the marine recruiting officer with his fife and drums, marching through the country literally drumming up trade to fill the ranks of his command. Enlistment in the early days was rather a happy-go-lucky proceeding and the men were discharged frequently at the end of a cruise. Of course many cruises lasted as long as the average period of enlistment in these days of steam and turbine. Nowadays the recruiting sergeant obtains his recruits rather by appealing to their intelligence than by those devious methods of an age that has passed.

Doctor White on "The Making of a Nation."

It is a pleasure to record the wonderful success of Dr. R. A. White's lectures and "talks" on the patriotic subjects of the day. Doctor White is one of the thoroughbred Americans that talks straight from the shoulder, and inspires his audience with the patriotism that flows through his own veins. He is one of the most traveled and best posted men in the United States on European countries and has a knowledge of foreign affairs seldom attained by travelers or writers. Many years of his life have been spent abroad and with his inimitable way of approaching men, he has met the real people of many nations, and with his knowledge of events and seeing them as a clear-headed American, he has been able to see things and tell of them as a master hand. His lecture Sunday evening at the People's Liberal church will be the first on "The Making of a Nation" and he will treat of "The Revolutionary War Period." This means an intelligent resume of American affairs at the beginning and the doctor has taken over 100 beautifully colored views, which he shows by slides during the lecture. Don't miss it, as it is one of Doctor White's best, and that is saying something.

Morning services will be held at the church as usual at 10:30 when Doctor White will preach. Every one cordially welcome.

Community Center, Lewis-Champlin School.

The Lewis-Champlin school Community center will be open on Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

On Tuesday, November 20, the class in household economies will meet. There will be a talk by a soldier from the trenches in France, the Patriotic circle will meet, and the gymnasium and game rooms will be open.

On Thursday, November 22, there will be a community dance, admission 10 cents; and the game room will be open.

If any desire to take up work in parliamentary law or gymnastic dancing, or wish to enter the community shop or class in beginning dancing, they are requested to enroll at the school.

Patriotic Circle.

A patriotic club, to be known as the Lewis-Champlin Patriotic Circle, was organized this week by the Lewis-Champlin P. T. A. Its object is to knit for the soldiers from this district, especially those who are not well taken care of.

Yarn for the work will be supplied by the circle; also instruction for beginners. There will be no dues. Funds will be raised by entertainments, donations, and other means to be devised.

Every woman in the neighborhood interested in caring for our own boys, especially those who have relatives or friends in the service, are invited to join.

Exempted men and their friends are also asked to aid in supplying those gone to the front with the necessary protection from the severity of winter.

The officers of the circle are: Mrs. Lester H. Lanyan, chairman; Mrs. James A. Long, vice chairman; Mrs. Chas. Binney, treasurer; Miss Mary Wibirt, secretary.

Meetings Tuesday evenings at 7:30 o'clock and Thursday afternoons at 3 o'clock.

A bunco party for the benefit of the circle will be held at the residence of Mrs. David Roller, 511 W. 60th St., Wednesday, Nov. 21st, at 8 p. m. Everyone is invited to come and help the cause along.
